Ministry of Education, Singapore

13 hrs ·

Singapore spirit was running high in Shanghai over the weekend! More than 3,500 Overseas Singaporeans attended Singapore Day, a one day event to reunite our people with things they love about home.

We showed them the latest changes in our education landscape and cool school programmes such as perfume-making and racing robotic cars. Among the crowds were students like Qian Xuan, who was thrilled to see her alma mater Greenwood Primary School featured in the exhibition.

Qian Xuan, an alumna of Greenwood Primary School, was delighted to spot her school's student publication. It brought back fond memories of her days as a student in Singapore.
